

JAMES HONEY 2-20-1919 DIED AT PUTNEY

A PIONEER RESIDENT OF THIS COUNTY SUCCUMBS TO FINAL SUMMONS

James Honey, for twenty-eight years a resident of this county, near Putney, died at his home early Saturday, following a brief illness.

He was taken ill shortly after the supper hour Friday evening and although medical aid was summoned, the patient failed to respond to treatment and death ensued at 5 o'clock Saturday morning.

Deceased was 65 years of age at the time of his death and is survived by a widow, six sons and two daughters, to whom the sympathy of many friends in this section of the state is extended.

James Honey located upon his farm in Claremont township in 1881 and by industry and upright living attained success.

Recently he made a trip to Texas in company with his son, Will, where he looked into an investment proposition.

For a number of years, he and his several members of his family made their home in Aberdeen, residing at the corner of Kline street and Eleventh avenue, and many friends whom he made in this city, will learn of his death with regret.—Aberdeen News.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, Rev. C. B. Harrold of the M. E. church, officiating. Burial took place at the Groton union cemetery.
